

Special Section > Best of Burbank 2011 > Page 8 > Best Acupuncturist:

Best Acupuncturist: Dr. Mindy Minhong Dai

Dr. Mindy Minhong Dai is a California-licensed acupuncturist and herb practitioner with enriched experience in medical imaging diagnosis, including X-rays and CT and MRI scans. Dr. Dai was voted Best Acupuncturist by readers of the Burbank Leader in 2006, 2007, 2008, 2010 and now in 2011.

She has earned an M. D. and master of medical science in medical imaging at Suzhou Medical College in China, and she has also received a master of science in Oriental medicine at Samra University of Oriental Medicine in California. In addition, she has successfully completed three years of postdoctoral training in medical imaging at USC, as well as an MRI fellowship at Providence Saint Joseph Medical Center in Burbank. Over the years, Dr. Dai has been published in more than 30 medical research publications, co-authored an MRI reference book and contributed several chapters to medical books. Dr. Dai was attending physician, certified radiologist and associate professor at the First Affiliated Hospital of Suzhou Medical College in China before moving to California. Since 2001, Dr. Dai has been practicing acupuncture and Chinese herbs at her Burbank office and has successfully treated thousands of patients. She specializes in pain management including acute and chronic pain and migraine, and in combating neurological problems, providing oncology support and treating women's health problems and infertility. The effectiveness of treatments stems from her 25 years of experience in both Western and Eastern medicine and her accreditation in multiple disciplines.

Her approach is a holistic treatment plan customized to each patient, and her goal is to provide a professional and high-quality acupuncture service with caring, passion and excellence.

